- Will be removed from start menu. - Will be removed from context menu. - Removes the LogOff from start menu. - Will replace Documents and Settings with Win98OS. If you have a problem with the LogOff button in the start menu (L+R) press Win+Esc and see the help icon. Logoff is on the list. Maybe the icon is missing? Maybe you are not using the Start button? Maybe your panel is too small? Maybe you have one too many active programs? Please share your setup. Hi Micky, I think the author is talking about your problem and not yours, but it's possible you have your start button where it belongs. To check: In the Start Menu folder, find the folder you're not using any of your shortcuts. Drag it somewhere else, such as a new folder or directly to the Desktop. Then, open that folder. You should see all of your shortcuts that you're using. If that's the case, then you're ok. The use of rubbers as an elastomer for the manufacture of seals is well known. In one approach, rubbers are combined with solvents which are capable of dissolving the rubber and which evaporate after application of the seal to the structure to be sealed. For example, U.S. Pat. No. 4,154,834 to Weber discloses a composition of an elastomer, solvent, plasticizer, and zinc oxide as a catalyst. The plasticizer is selected from a group of aromatic esters which include dibutyl phthalate, diisobutyl phthalate, dioctyl phthalate, diisodecyl phthalate, diisononyl phthalate, dioctyl adipate, and butyl stearate. The elastomer is preferably butyl rubber, and the zinc oxide is added to the composition to facilitate cure of the seal. U.S. Pat. No. 4,268,735 to Ra
